

COOKIES POLICY

WHAT COOKIES ARE AND WHAT THEY ARE USED FOR

1. A cookie is a small text file created when you visit a Web page through your internet browser, which will be stored on your device (mobile or computer).
2. The cookie file collects and contains information related to your behaviour, actions, and preferences on the web page you are visiting, such as which language you choose.
3. This website thus remembers information about your preferences and applies it in all your future visits to this page. This will give you a simpler, faster, and more personalized browsing experience on the MCA website.
4. Except for cookies strictly necessary for the provision of the web service, cookies will only be collected if you consent freely and expressly to such collection.

TYPES OF COOKIES USED

As to its origin:

Own cookies are cookies collected by the website visited – in this case, all cookies collected by MCA through the website www.mcagroup.com.

Third-party cookies are cookies collected by websites other than the one you are visiting. For example: When you watch a YouTube video through the MCA website, YouTube may create and store cookies. MCA does not control the use of third-party cookies, so we recommend that you your cookie policy before consenting to the collection of third-party cookies.

Its validity:

Session cookies are temporary files that will be deleted as soon as you leave the web page or close the browser you are using.

Persistent cookies are cookies that will remain on your device until they reach their expiration date (which may be days, months, or years) or even delete cookies from your browser (by deleting your history, for example).

Its purpose:

Strictly necessary cookies are cookies necessary for the operation of the website. Without these cookies, the services required by the user (website visitor) cannot be provided.

Analytical cookies collect information about the use of the website. They allow you to analyze statistics (such as the number of website visits), measure user behavior (such as time spent on a page) and monitor website performance and efficiency.

Functionality cookies are cookies that store the user's preferences regarding the website's content, such as the language or views of the page. Thus, if you consent to the collection of these cookies, the settings you set on the first visit to the site will be replicated in the following visits.
